Where Will Following Lead?

In this series we will look at the Gospel of John through the framework John offers his readers in John 20:30-31: “Jesus did many other miraculous signs in the presence of his disciples, which are not recorded in this book. But these are written that you may believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God, and that by believing you may have life in his name.” Here, just before the epilogue to the Fourth Gospel, John gives us a clue as to how he has organized his gospel. He declares that he wrote down specific signs. He calls us to pay attention to these signs, for they will lead us to faith and life. Faith in Jesus is another way to describe following Jesus. Life, then, is the result of following Jesus. Where will following lead? Following Jesus will lead to an experience of true life, or as John puts it in 10:10, “Life to the full.” We should not be surprised when we get to this statement about “life in his name” at the end of the gospel, for John told us right up front in the fourth verse of his presentation, “In him was life....” Taking John’s advice seriously that the signs will point us to faith and life, we will examine the seven signs around which he organizes the first half of his gospel and discuss the characteristics of life in Christ to which they point. As we ponder each sign, we will be learning more clearly where following Jesus will lead.

Lauren Paigle

Lauren has a love for Jesus and a passion for worship.

She uses her gifts regularly leading worship at North Point Community Church and her songs are sung in churches throughout the country. Lauren has a deep desire to see lives changed and knows that music is a powerful vehicle: “It’s just heavy on my heart for all of us to rise up in unity and recognize the goodness of God.” Knowing the goodness of God is expressed beyond the duration of her songs, she also has devoted much time and energy to helping victims of human trafficking. This morning, we have the opportunity to live out Ephesians 5:19-20.
